ADVANCED / SLOW LEARNERS POLICY

Being a government college, admission to all programmes is strictly based on merit. Yet there are certain students who are slow learners and require extra/special attention. There are also advanced learners who like to do more challenging tasks. Since the beginning of the college, most of the teachers have tried to address this challenge in their own way. The college, with effect from 02/04/2019, formulated a policy for handling student diversity in order to standardize and make all the activities uniform conducted by various departments in this regard.

NAME OF THE POLICY: ADVANCED – SLOW LEARNERS' POLICY

Procedure to identify student diversity:

All departments shall conduct an examination for first year UG students within one month of their admission.

Nature of the test: The test shall be objective type focussing areas like subject concerned (language, mathematics, commerce etc), comprehension questions and logical and analytical questions.

All students who score 80 percent and above are considered to be advanced learners and who score below 50 percent are considered to be slow learners.

Activities:

1. Teachers identify the areas/ portions in the syllabi of the first semester by the third month of the semester where reinforcement is required for slow learners.
2. Teachers allot these portions/ areas to advanced learners for presenting in the classroom to help the slow learners.
3. The teacher allots available time slots (before/ after regular class time or free hours) for engaging these sessions
4. The teacher must keep a record of the details of the sessions.

SPECIAL PROGRAMME FOR ADVANCED LEARNERS

The above programme is primarily meant for slow learners but equally beneficial for advanced learners. But advanced learners need to face more challenges. So, the college formulates a special programme named TOUGH NUT CHALLENGE.

- The teacher assigns topics/areas/ section to the ADVANCED LEARNERS to prepare assignment/ seminar/ presentation
- The presentation will be done by the student in the class concerned or clubs of the department or general forums of the college
- The teacher has to keep a data sheet of the programmes

At the end of the second year, available university examination results are evaluated and necessary changes are made.
